- Maria Hey, Sota! Do you want to come to the Cinco de Mayo festival after school?
- Sota Sure! It's Mexico's Independence Day, right?
- Maria Ha, everybody says that! But no. Independence Day is September 16.
- Sota Really? Then what happened on May 5?
- Maria In 1862, a small Mexican army beat the French army at a city called Puebla.
- Sota Wow. So it's a big holiday in Mexico, too?
- Maria Not really. Schools are closed, but most people go to work. Puebla has the biggest party.
- Sota That's strange. Why is it so big here in L.A.?
- Maria Mexican people in California started celebrating it way back in the 1860s. My grandma says it's about pride.
- Sota I like that. By the way, May 5 is Children's Day in Japan.
- Maria No way! What do you do on Children's Day?
- Sota We fly carp flags and eat rice cakes. Today I'll eat tacos instead!
