- Emma Kenta, why is there a pine tree decoration by the front door?
- Kenta That's a kadomatsu. It helps the New Year god find our house.
- Emma A god comes to your house? That sounds amazing!
- Kenta That's the old belief. So we clean the whole house before New Year.
- Emma In Canada, we have a big party on New Year's Eve. What do you do?
- Kenta We stay home with family. On January 1, we eat osechi.
- Emma Osechi? Is that the food in those pretty boxes?
- Kenta Yes. Each food has a meaning. The black beans are for good health.
- Emma I love that. What about the soup with rice cakes?
- Kenta That's ozoni. My grandma in Kyoto makes it with round mochi and white miso.
- Emma Really? My host mom said she uses square mochi!
- Kenta Right. It's different in every region. And kids get otoshidama, too.
- Emma Money for kids? Now I really want to be a kid in Japan!
